Playing Up a Division Policy

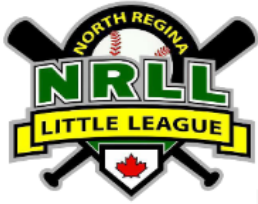

This policy allows players to evaluate for the age group above their appropriate Division provided they meet the following requirements.

1. The player must be entering their second year in the appropriate Division.
2. The player must rank in the top five of players evaluated for their appropriate Division.
3. The Player Agent Committee must agree that the player is ready to move up based on conversations with references provided. Readiness will be based on the player's level of maturity, leadership and knowledge of the game. Please provide the contact information for the player's most recent baseball coach:

Coach Name: _____

Coach Phone Number: _____

If all of the above criteria is met, the player would be offered the opportunity to evaluate for the older Division. The player must then rank in the top 80% of the evaluated players deemed eligible to be drafted in the AAA Division. The player will not be able to play in AA in the higher age Division.

To Be Completed By Parent

Playing up a Division will result in placement on a team with players potentially more than two years older than your athlete. This can be uncomfortable for some players and by signing this waiver you are confirming that your family is accepting this scenario and that you are comfortable that your child has the physical and mental maturity to play in the higher Division for the entire season.

I, _____ fully understand the criteria and process set out above and confirm that our family agrees to allow _____ to take part in the _____ Division evaluations, provided they qualify, and accept their placement in the Division that corresponds to the evaluation process outcome.
